

TABOO

My body burns with mad desire,
My thoughts aflame with raging passion,
An impulse to engulf your flesh in
An obsession
A confession almost taboo.

Why have you cast this wicked spell?
This strange enchantment that I'm under,
A mystic power that makes me wonder
Why I must do
Things with you
That are so taboo.

You push the limits of erotic ecstasy
Where even pain becomes delicious agony.
I tell myself every day
That I must break away
But in the dead of the darkness I crawl back to you.

Now I'm a servant of your need.
Use me to satisfy your hunger,
And I'll resist your will no longer.
You are stronger
And I belong where
There's no taboo, Taboo, Taboo.